Roane County High School

The predecessor of Roane County High School was a school known as Rittenhouse Academy which was established in 1806, just ten years after Tennessee became the sixteenth state of the Union. In 1903 the trustees of the Rittenhouse Academy turned the property over to Roane County, and in that year Roane County High School was established. Pictured above are the buildings which have housed Roane County High School through the years.

TREES

are in Your Future

Wood! It's a magic word in the list of America's Natural Resources . . . And, such an important part of your everyday life. Wood even played a big part in your education. The books you read . . . The paper you wrote on . . . Even the clothes some of you wore were made from trees. In the future you will be a tremendous consumer of wood and wood products.

Now that school days are over, what are your plans? Will you go to college, learn a trade, or be a farmer? Regardless of what vocation you choose, you should consider the profit and security which go hand and hand with our perpetual crop, trees. Trees are easy to plant, easy to maintain, easy to market, and are profitable. Even if you become a business or professional person, an investment in a tree farm will eventually become a dependable source of income to you.

The Hiwassee Land Company, Supplier of Pulpwood for Bowaters Southern Paper Corporation, will be glad to advise you about your forest lands and how you can qualify as a "Tree farmer."

Congratulations for a job well done.
